

Register Now for Special Interest Classes Offered by Pima County Natural Resources, Parks and Recreation

Registrations for fall class session 5 are now being accepted by Pima County Natural Resources, Parks and Recreation. Classes are being offered at the Northwest Art Center, 7770 N. Shannon Road Most classes will begin the week of October 25th. The session will end the week of December 6-12 for most classes.

This would be the perfect time to take a class and make some of your holiday gifts. People enjoy receiving a handmade gift almost as much as the person making the gift enjoys making and giving the gift.

The Pima County Natural Resources Parks and Recreation program brochure “Leisure Times” is no longer available in a printed format. Information regarding programs, facility locations, events and activities can be found on-line at www.pima.gov/nrpr . Information available describes instructional special interest classes (pottery, jewelry, drawing, plus a wide variety of other classes.).

If you do not have a computer at home and/or are not computer literate you may go to any Pima County library to use a computer and get assistance from a librarian. You may also go to one of the county community centers and staff at the center will be happy to assist you. You may also pick up a class brochure in the YMCA lobby or at one of our classrooms located in the building just north of the Y – rooms 301, 302, or 303 if a class is being held.

Registrations will be taken up to and including the beginning of the class or program as long as space is available, however, if a class does not have sufficient registrations to be held, the class will be canceled approximately one week prior to its start date. Please register early if you would like a class. Registration fees are the same for everyone – resident and non-resident.

Registration for special interest classes is by mail only.
